DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1, 8 and 16 are objected to because of the following informalities:
 - 1) In claim 1, line 9: The term "side" should be changed to --sides--.
 - 2) In the first line of claims 8 & 16: The phrase --at least one-- should be inserted before the term "catch".Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Pat. No. 5,327,591 to Fireman et al. As concerns claims 1 and 11, Fireman et al. show the claimed limitations of a furniture frame (1) comprising a first section (20, 30) having a first side and second side, the first section having at least one wheel (22) rotatably secured thereto and at least one support member (21) secured thereto; a prop bar (24) secured to the at least one supporting member; a second section (10) connected to the first section, the second section having a first side and a second side and including at least one support member (11); and at least one catch member (40) secured to one side of the second section, the catch member having at least one notch for engaging a portion of the prop bar thereon. With regards to claims 2 and 12, the reference is considered to show a condition wherein the first section (20, 30) comprises a backrest section and the second section (10) comprises a seat section in Figure 1 and in column 6, lines 8-10. As concerns claim 3, the reference discloses a condition wherein the second section is connected to the first section through the engagement of a protruding member (51) located on the first side of the first section with a slot located on the first side of the second section and a protruding member located on the second side of the first section with a slot located on the second side of the second section (as shown in Figures 1-5 and as described in column 6, lines 36-39). With regards to claims 4 and 13, the reference is considered to show a condition wherein the at least one wheel (22) comprises a first wheel and a second wheel rotatably secured to the first section in Figures 2, 3 & 5. As concerns claims 5 and 14, the reference discloses a condition wherein the at least one support member (21) of the first section comprises a first support member secured to the first side of the first section and a second support member secured to the second side of the first section (see Figure 5). With regards to claim 6 and with further regards to claim 11, the reference is considered to show a condition wherein the at least one support member (11) of the second section comprises a first support member secured to the first side of the second section and a second support member secured to the second side of the second section in Figure 5. As concerns claims 7 and 15, the reference discloses a condition wherein the at least one catch member comprises a first catch member (40) secured to an interior surface of the first side of the second section and a second catch member secured to an interior surface of the second side of the second section (see Figure 5). With regards to claims 8 and 16, the reference is considered to show a condition wherein the catch member (40) having at least one notch comprises a catch member having a first notch and second notch in Figure 5. As concerns claim 9, the reference discloses the use of at least one stop member (46, 47) located on the side of the first section for limiting the movement of the support member of the first section when the furniture frame is in the bed position. With regards to claims 10 and 17, the reference is considered to show a condition wherein the first side and the second side of the first section (20, 30) comprises an L-shape configuration in Figure 4.

4. Claim 20 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by U.S. Pat. No. 5,315,722 to Djie (note especially Figures 3a-3c, 4a-4c, 7a, 7b & 8; column 5, lines 31-68; column 6, lines 1-22; and column 7, lines 9-37).

Response to Amendment

In response to Applicant's arguments on pages 3 and 4 of his amendment concerning claims 1 and 11, the examiner respectfully maintains that Fireman et al. '591 still disclose the structure of a prop bar secured to at least one supporting member as broadly recited in Applicant's claims. Claims in a pending application should be given their broadest reasonable interpretation. In re Pearson, 181 USPQ 641 (CCPA 1974). Moreover, the examiner respectfully maintains that the at least one catch member (40) of the furniture frame (1) of Fireman et al. '591 supports the furniture frame in a couch position as shown in Figure 3 of the reference and that support member (21) does in fact comprise a portion of the first section (20, 30) as disclosed in column 6, lines 18-19 of Fireman et al. '591.

With regards to Applicant's arguments on page 5 of his amendment concerning claims 8 and 16, the examiner respectfully disagrees and maintains that the at least one catch member (40) contains a notched (lower left) portion as clearly shown in Figures 1 & 3-5. Furthermore, in response to Applicant's arguments on page 6 of his amendment regarding claim 9, the examiner respectfully maintains that Fireman et al. '591 still disclose the use of at least one stop member (46, 47) located on the side of the first section for limiting the movement of the support member (21) of the first section since all of these elements are interconnected together (through element 24).

Lastly, Applicant's arguments on pages 7 and 8 with respect to claim 20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
